Definitions Point of closure. For S a subset of a Euclidean space, x is a point of closure of S if every open ball centered at x contains a point of S (this point may be x itself).. This definition generalises to any subset S of a metric space X . Fully expressed, for X a metric space with metric d , x is a point of closure of S if for every $r > 0$, there is a y in S such that the distance $d(x, y \dots$

Box and Cox (1964) developed the transformation. Estimation of any Box-Cox parameters is by maximum likelihood. Box and Cox (1964) offered an example in which the data had the form of survival times but the underlying biological structure was of hazard rates, and the transformation identified this.

Rotation about a point other than origin. Quaternions and 3x3 matrices alone can only represent rotations about the origin. But if we include a 3D vector with the quaternion we can use this to represent the point about which we are rotating.

In Chapter 1 "Introduction to Organizational Communication" we read fifteen representative definitions of "organization" (see Table 1.1). All fifteen contained one or more of the following words (or their variants): system, structure, unit, collective, pattern, coordination. When we think of a "system" or "structure" we usually think of an object, a thing that exists independently ...
